

Campaign Tempo Steps Up

Ike Adds One More Day To Coast Trip

President Planning
Los Angeles Speech
On Friday Night

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower stepped up his campaign today with announcement of a major speech in Los Angeles Friday night.

He also issued an appeal to the people to listen to and judge the Republican record. He said he was proud of it, and will be happy to leave the result of the Nov. 6 election to the "honest judgment" of the people.

Eisenhower's visit to California will follow his previously scheduled four days of campaigning in the Northwest, where he will fly tomorrow.

He won California's 32 electoral votes with ease in 1952 but this year there has been some GOP concern over the state. The Democrats are well organized and there is an 800,000 Democratic majority in registered voters.

Short Telecast Series

Eisenhower's public appeal was in a talk prepared for the first of a series of short telecasts which the Republicans have lined up for the three weeks left before election. He said:

"The next three weeks are vitally important to every man, woman and child in the United States.

"On November 6, you will decide, by your votes, how you will live, work and prosper during the next four years. . .

"On your decision will depend whether this country will go forward with peace, security and prosperity."

The program is called "Your Government and You." The talks will be filmed in advance and will run five minutes. There will be 33 in all.

Cabinet members will follow during the next three weeks and Eisenhower said they will have much to say about "what they have done and are doing for your happiness and well-being." The President gave this lineup:

Secretary of State Dulles—"on the 'Spirit that impels us in achieving peace and the record we have made as a nation in our united effort for peace.'"

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey—"How his department has checked the galloping inflation, cut taxes, balanced the budget and reduced the debt."

Provided More Defense

Secretary of Defense Wilson—"How we have saved billions of dollars on the armed forces, reduced our manpower requirements and still provided a more secure defense."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell—"How employment, wages and income have reached the highest levels in history."

Eisenhower also said "You will hear your attorney general, the secretary of our new Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and other Cabinet officers tell what we have done to combat monopoly, to extend Social Security for 70 million Americans, and other accomplishments of this Republican administration."

"I am proud of the record... for one—and all who work with me—will be happy to rest our case on your honest judgment."

Attempt To Grab Hungary Plane Foiled By Policemen

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 15 (AP)—In a bloody hand-to-hand fight, an official report said Hungarian secret policemen today thwarted an attempt of four men to seize a Hungarian air liner in flight, the Interior Ministry said tonight.

The ministry reported the four tried to force the plane off its regular course and head it to West Germany.

One of the men was shot dead in the struggle over the clouds.

The plane returned to the Hun-

War Talk Swells In Middle East

Ben-Gurion Warns Israel Is Prepared

Jordan Calls On UN
For Quick Action To End Aggressions

JERUSALEM, Oct. 15 (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion said today Israel is not eager for battle with the Arabs, but "if we are attacked we shall fight with all our strength to the end—and that means until victory." He called anew for arms from the United States.

Ben-Gurion's broad warning came amid rising tension over the plans of Iraq to move troops into neighboring Jordan, which faces a general election Sunday with its people in ferment over powerful military raids by the Israelis.

Even as the 70-year-old Israeli leader delivered a major policy speech before the Knesset (Parliament), Jordan called on the U.N. Security Council in New York for quick action to end what it called "actual aggressions" by Israel and a most serious border situation. The Israelis contend the raids are retaliations for Jordanian killings on Israeli soil.

Refuses To Cooperate

At the same time Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission, reported that Israeli refusal to cooperate had stalled his investigation of border incidents. Burns told U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold "I feel it is my duty to draw your attention to the obvious dangers involved."

Ben-Gurion had a word on the truce organization also. He told the Knesset self-defense is a natural right "and perhaps it is more than a right, it is the duty of the state." Some of the U.N. representatives, he said, "deny Israel this right of self-defense."

Of reports that 3,000 Iraqi troops are poised on Jordan's eastern frontier ready to move in to support young King Hussein's shaky Arab government, Ben-Gurion said Israel reserved freedom of action.

The Israeli Foreign Ministry shortly before had warned in a statement obviously aimed at Britain, which has treaty ties with both Jordan and Iraq, against support for any such move.

In a long review of Arab-Israeli border clashes, Ben-Gurion told the blame largely on Egypt and Jordan, two of Israel's foes in the Palestine war of 1948. Egypt is the biggest power in the Arab bloc. Jordan is a Hashemite kingdom. Soldiers of Iraq, a fellow Hashemite kingdom, fought Israel from Jordan soil in the 1948 war.

Undermines States Quo

"A military incursion into Jordan, even if only into eastern Jordan, by a hostile state which does not even have an armistice agreement with Israel undermines the status quo of the Middle East and constitutes a violation of the first article of the armistice agreements," Ben-Gurion said. "The government of Israel respects the status quo, which is based on this agreement with the Hashemite government (of Jordan). But the observance of the agreement depends on its nonviolation by foreign and hostile governments, and the government of Israel will reserve freedom of action if the status quo is violated and a foreign military force enters Jordan."

Andrews, who served the Eisenhower administration for three years in the tax collectors job, said the major parties offered the voter only the difference between Tweedle-Dum and Tweedle-Dee.

"Alfalfa Bill" Murray Dies

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 15 (AP)—William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, one of the principal framers of Oklahoma's constitution and the state's ninth governor, died here today.

Murray has been in failing health for several years and was blind and deaf. He suffered a stroke last Tuesday, and had been in a coma most of the time. Murray also had contracted pneumonia.

Two sons were at his side at the time of his death. They were Johnston Murray, who became governor of Oklahoma in 1951, exactly 20 years after his father, and Burbank Murray of Milwaukee.

Another son, Massena Murray, State Corporation Commission conservation officer, was at home recovering from an operation.

Johnston Murray Jr., grandson of the former governor, said that no funeral arrangements had been made.

Found In Refuse Can

Tanker Finds Raft, Wheels Of Airplane

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—A British tanker reported that it plucked a yellow raft and two aircraft wheels from the Atlantic today in the search for a U.S. transport plane missing since Wednesday with 59 American servicemen aboard.

The Israeli Foreign Ministry shortly before had warned in a statement obviously aimed at Britain, which has treaty ties with both Jordan and Iraq, against support for any such move.

In a long review of Arab-Israeli border clashes, Ben-Gurion told the blame largely on Egypt and Jordan, two of Israel's foes in the Palestine war of 1948. Egypt is the biggest power in the Arab bloc. Jordan is a Hashemite kingdom. Soldiers of Iraq, a fellow Hashemite kingdom, fought Israel from Jordan soil in the 1948 war.

Finding of the wheels spurred flagging hopes among the searchers.

It was the first solid clue turned up since the big C118 vanished on a flight from England to the United States via the Azores. Earlier reports of flares seen on the surface of the sea and weak SOS signals possibly coming from life rafts have proved to be will-o'-the-wisps.

Since the transport disappeared one of the greatest aerial searches ever undertaken has sent American and British planes flying over the lonely Atlantic night and day.

The search is now centering on an ocean area 370 miles southwest of Land's End, the southwestern extremity of England. It was from there that the British tanker Navicella radioed she had fished the raft and plane wheels from the sea—wheels of the same size and type as those used in the nose of the missing aircraft.

The Navicella herself, en route to Hamburg, put her helm over and slowly moved around the spot hoping for the sight of rafts or survivors or even more wreckage. Six other ships as well as a covering of planes joined in the search.

The discovery cheered air crews aloft and at the search headquarters in Cornwall, a Royal Air Force spokesman declared:

"It gives us new hope that there might be a dinghy or dinghies in the area with survivors. A new search is now being gradually built up around the area in which the wreckage was found."

New Delhi Sacred River Is Flooded

NEW DELHI, Oct. 15 (AP)—About 50,000 refugees crowded into New Delhi today loaded with family possessions.

The sacred River Jumna neared the highest level here in 32 years, standing 5 feet above the danger mark.

Ike To Continue Yugoslavia Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower decided today to continue economic aid to Yugoslavia but to hold up delivery of heavy military equipment including about 200 jet warplanes.

The President announced his decision in keeping with foreign aid legislation which requires a determination by tomorrow whether continuing aid is in the interest of American foreign policy.

In a letter to leaders of the Senate and House, the President said that after "careful study and examination" he has decided:

"The balance of available evidence leads me to find that Yugoslavia remains independent of control by the Soviet Union and desires to continue to be independent."

The President said "only small, routine and long-planned deliveries" of military equipment would be allowed to go forward under his decision.

He added: "I intend that this attitude which implies the nondelivery of jet planes and other items of heavy equipment, shall be maintained until the situation can be more accurately appraised during the days to come."

"I believe, however, that economic aid for the people of Yugoslavia, primarily in the form of foodstuffs, may now prudently and wisely be proceeded with."

Eisenhower made his decision only 10 days after Yugoslavia's President Tito returned from highly confidential talks with Soviet leaders at the Black Sea resort of Yalta.

11 Miners, Trapped Since Sept. 29, Get Out Of Coal Mine

CALCUTTA, India, Oct. 15 (AP)—Eleven miners crawled out of the Burra Dhemo coal mine near Asansol today after having been trapped underground since Sept. 29, an official report said.

Mine officials began a search for 17 others reported by the survivors to be "wandering somewhere underground." Altogether 39 miners were trapped in a pocket when part of the workings collapsed after heavy rain. The 11 who escaped were in a hospital and did not explain immediately how they had been able to survive so long without food.

Certificates Okayed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized Western Maryland Railway Co. to issue $4,815,000 of equipment trust certificates in connection with new equipment purchases.

Eban Talks To Dulles About Troop Moves

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban talked with Secretary of State Dulles today about reports that Iraq would move troops into Jordan. He reported afterward this problem "is uppermost in the minds of my government."

Eban told newsmen he could not talk about the Iraq troop plan "because it is of such importance."

In reply to questions about his discussion with Dulles, he said, "I will say I feel reassured we have succeeded in clarifying each other's position."

Egypt Accuses Eden Of Barring Peace In Suez

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Egypt today accused British Prime Minister Eden of throwing obstacles in the way of Suez peace negotiations and of lessening their chances for success.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi expressed particular concern over Eden's statement to a Conservative party conference that Britain would not rule out the use of force.

It was unfortunate, Fawzi said in a letter to the Security Council, that Eden had made this declaration just as the Council was approving a set of six principles as a basis for negotiating a settlement of the problem.

The letter was circulated as a final round of private meetings wound up the current phase of the Suez discussions. No time and place has been set for a resumption of the talks. Diplomatic quarters said there may be a meeting of the British, French and Egyptian foreign ministers in Europe later this month.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd talked with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold for almost two hours this morning on both the Suez and Palestine problems.

Before leaving by plane for London, Lloyd told newsmen a little progress had been made on the crisis but if Egypt offered no acceptable proposals "a very serious situation would develop."

"There is no time limit," Lloyd added, "but the situation grows more serious as time goes on."

Another principal in the discussions, V. K. Krishna Menon of India, met with Fawzi before taking a plane to London en route home. Menon is expected to stop off in Cairo for talks with Egyptian leaders.

Menon said at the airport the differences in the Suez dispute were not so great as "political juxtaposition would have your believe."

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shpilov and Secretary of State Dulles left yesterday.

Fawzi, who is remaining until Wednesday, met with Hammarskjold this afternoon.

New Weather Mark

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The mercury rose to 84 degrees at 2 p.m. today, the highest ever recorded in New York on Oct. 15, 1879. The old record high was 80.8, in 1879.

Blasts 300 Miles Apart Start Colo. Dam Project

GLEN CANYON, Colo., Oct. 15 (AP)—A blast deep in the Colorado River's rock-walled canyon here today began construction today on the biggest reclamation project ever authorized as a unit.

President Eisenhower tapped a telegraph key at the White House in Washington. The signal traveled along telephone lines and radio circuits.

Explosions rumbled and rock fell from a wall into which workers will bore a tunnel 45 feet in diameter. It, and another one like it on the opposite side of the river, will carry water of the Colorado around the construction site while men and machines build a 700-foot concrete dam.

Three hundred miles to the north, on the Green River in Utah, a blast touched off at the same time stripped earth from a rocky ledge. It prepared the way for engineers to drill holes which will show them the foundation requirements of another dam, 500 feet high.

The two structures are units in the billion dollar Upper Colorado River project, largest ever approved by Congress at one time.

Adlai Pushes Claims For H-Bomb Ban

Says Other Atomic Powers Willing In Radio-TV Address

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight his first act as president would be to "follow up on the opportunity presented now by the other atomic powers" to halt hydrogen bomb tests.

"What are we waiting for?" the Democratic presidential nominee asked in a radio-TV (ABC) address which he and his staff regarded as one of the most important of the campaign.

Stevenson said that since he first proposed that this country take the lead in trying to ban further tests of the super weapon, both Russia and Great Britain "have declared their willingness to join us in trying to establish the kind of policy I have suggested."

Takes Direct Issue

Taking direct issue with President Eisenhower and other top administration leaders on the question of calling off further H-bomb tests, Stevenson said that if elected he would "count it the first order of business to follow up on the opportunity presented now by the other atomic powers."

"I would do this, by conference or by consultation—at whatever level—in whatever place—the circumstances might suggest would be most fruitful."

Stevenson's proposal has been assailed by Eisenhower as "a theatrical gesture" which would be harmful to national security. Secretary of Defense Wilson has said it would not be "feasible" and Harold E. Stassen, the President's disarmament adviser, has described it as "dangerous."

Voice Agreement

On the other hand, various nuclear scientists, including 10 from the California Institute of Technology, have voiced agreement with Stevenson that further H-bomb tests should somehow be halted. And Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler has called on Eisenhower to reconsider his decision to say no more on the subject.

Stevenson said it may well not be possible to reach any international agreement in the immediate future to stop further tests.

"In the meantime—and frankly because bitter experience has proved that we cannot rely even on the firm agreement of one bloc of world powers—we will proceed both with the production of both hydrogen weapons and with further research in the field," Stevenson said.

He added: "There is little danger to national security involved because if another power conducts further have said, we would have no choice but to resume such tests ourselves."

Collects $5 From Neighbor

Stevenson went to the television studio to deliver his speech some hours after he collected $5 from a neighbor in Libertyville, Ill., to kick off a "Dollars for Democrats" campaign on which he is counting for the money to pay for further television appearances.

The Libertyville episode was a partly humorous, partly embarrassing to Stevenson.

Ike Calls For Speed-Up On Atomic Merchant Ship

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower called today for fast work to build a 20,000-horsepower atomic merchant ship.

It will be the world's first, so far as is known, and Eisenhower spoke of it as "a floating laboratory, providing indispensable information for the further application of atomic energy in the field of ocean transportation."

Eisenhower directed the Atomic Energy Commission and the Commerce Department "to proceed as rapidly as possible with the design and construction."

A joint statement by Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss said the time of delivery of the vessel depends on how long it takes to complete the atomic power plant.

They estimated this would be 39 months from the time contracts are entered, which would mean delivery after 1959. However, Weeks and Strauss said "efforts are continuing to reduce this time."

The two officials went to the White House for a ceremony ahead. They brought Eisenhower a picture of the ship-to-be, which looked much like any other sleek new vessel except for the absence of smokestacks.

It will be a combination passenger and cargo ship, fitted to carry 100 passengers and 12,000 tons of cargo. It will have a service speed of 21 knots, or over 24 miles an hour—fast for a merchant ship.

This is not the ship Eisenhower originally asked for. In April 1955 he asked for a sort of display ship, which would visit ports over the world to demonstrate peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Congress voted instead for a working ship. It set a cost limit of 46½ million dollars.

Last July it was disclosed that the Nautilus had cruised almost 30,000 miles without refueling.

Supreme Court Turns Down Union Appeal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—An independent labor union lost in the Supreme Court today its effort to prevent a private employer from firing employees who plead the Fifth Amendment at public hearings about Communist affiliations.

The court turned down without comment an appeal by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (UE), which is facing Justice Department charges of being Red-infiltrated.

The union claimed the policy of General Electric Co. of discharging workers who refused to testify before congressional committees on the ground of possible self-incrimination violated the contract between the union and the company.

It was among 35 cases disposed of by the court in a session which marked the final day of Justice Sherman Minton on the bench. Minton, retiring because of failing health, will be succeeded by Walter J. Brennan Jr. of New Jersey.

In other actions the court:

1. Declined to act at this time on an appeal by a group of Sumter County, S.C., parents who said their children were refused admission to white elementary and grade schools.
2. Agreed to review the convictions of Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald and two other men for conspiring to fix criminal income tax prosecution cases. Convicted with Grunewald in New York were Daniel A. Bolich, former assistant commissioner of internal revenue and Max Halperin, New York attorney.
3. Grunewald, described by government investigators as a Washington "influence peddler," served a 90-day sentence some years ago for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions of House income tax scandal investigators.
4. Reversed a previous action

Traffic Clerk Suspended In Bondsman Probe

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15 (AP)—A traffic court clerk was suspended for 30 days without pay today after court authorities said he gave the name of a bail bondsman to a defendant.

Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr said Samuel DeMarco was suspended as part of Scherr's continuing effort to break up the practice of giving tips to bondsmen.

Scherr said he failed to understand why employees would jeopardize their jobs for whatever small amount they might get in the form of a "kickback" from bondsmen.

A report filed by Patrolman Howard G. Summer said on Oct. 9 DeMarco told a traffic defendant he could be freed on $500 bail and when the defendant asked who he could recommend he was given the name of a bail bond company.

Byrd Refuses Presidential Nomination

BERRYVILLE, Va., Oct. 15 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today "I am not a candidate for any office" when told the South Carolinians for Independent (presidential) Electors would support him for president.

"I naturally feel the honor of being suggested for the presidency by the candidates for electors in South Carolina but I have repeatedly stated that I am not a candidate for any office," Byrd said in a statement issued by his office.

"I had no communication with any of the South Carolina electoral candidates," Byrd said.

Until the South Carolinians' announcement at Columbia today, the group had been uncommitted. They had asked for votes for their slate of electors on the argument that in a close election uncommitted electors would be in an excellent position to bargain for the best interests of the South.

Farley Smith, son of the late South Carolina U.S. Sen. Cotton Ed Smith and chairman of the group, announced that the decision had been made to cast the state's eight electoral votes for Byrd in case of an independent victory over the Democrats and Republicans in South Carolina.

The Independents are composed largely of dissident Democrats who do not support the national party ticket, the civil rights' platform plank and other features of the Democratic national organization.

They formed last August after the state Democratic convention had agreed to instruct its presidential electors to vote for the national party ticket.

Further Study Is Asked For Water Resources Act

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Board of Natural Resources recommended today that "further study" be given to corrective legislation to shore up some gaps in Maryland's 1933 Water Resources Act.

It took the action after Dr. Joseph T. Singewald, director of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, discussed proposals he had made to the Legislative Council Sept. 11 to bring water for farm irrigation under supervision of the State agency.

The proposals got a cool reception from the council's judiciary committee, which voted an unfavorable report after listening to complaints from farm and soil conservation groups.

Dr. Singewald told the Board of Natural Resources today that he felt it was because the problem was not fully understood. He said supplementary irrigation from streams has created a water problem that did not exist when the 1933 law was drafted, and that the Legislature itself had cited an "immediate need" for action.

The present law specifically exempts from State regulation water for domestic and farm use. Dr. Singewald thinks it should be revised to exempt only domestic use.

He said there is no problem in tidalwater counties where the underground supply is plentiful and wells will provide a fast enough flow for irrigation. State supervision here, he said, would mainly apply to helping farmers locate their wells in the most practical areas.

He said the problem is different in Central and Western Maryland, where irrigation is most economically accomplished from streams. Streams are at their lowest when the water is most needed for crops and a heavy runoff by the property owner upstream deprives the downstream, he said.

Dr. Singewald said this could be solved through storage of water in reservoirs at times when streams are full, possibly with groups of farmers using the same reservoir in a particular irrigation district. Construction of reservoirs could be financed through government loans.

His proposed legislation would also define what rights farmers have to water, spelling out for example that if a spring exists on a man's farm he has a legal right to water from that spring. Such rights are not now clear under the law, Dr. Singewald said.

Young Escapee Shot To Death

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15 (AP)—One of eight youths who ran away from the Roosevelt State Training School was shot in the back and killed today.

Six youths had been recaptured today.

The youth killed was tentatively identified as Benjamin Brown, 14-year-old Negro. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Lutheran Hospital.

Capt. Millard Horton said the boy was hit in the back as he was trying to escape police by climbing a fence.

Horton said he was told the .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged as Patrolman Marshall Brewer held it.

Brewer and Patrolman Joseph Palmerino were in a police cruiser when they spotted some of the boys running across the grounds of Seton Institute.

Horton said Brewer reportedly pointed the gun at the youths to frighten them and as he did so the patrol car was braked to a stop causing Brewer to accidentally discharge the rifle.

Horton said Brewer didn't know the rifle was loaded. He said Brewer owned the rifle and had it in the car to show it to Palmerino.

Market Slowly Works Itself Into Irregularity

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—It was a rising stock market for half of today's session then it slowly worked itself into a state of irregularity.

Selected stocks made some wide gains.

Pivotal issues ended the day with gains or losses ranging from fractions to around a point or so. But there was an assortment of gains running to 2, 3 or more points.

The market seemed highly selective, responding to various corporate reports.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 10 cents to $179.90. Volume totaled 1,610,000 shares compared with 1,330,000 on Friday.

The most active stock was American Telephone, up 1 1/2 at 169 1/2 on 31,600 shares. Second was Columbia Gas, unchanged at 17 on 21,200 shares. Third was Gulf Oil, up 1/4 at 115 1/4 on 18,800 shares.

Next was Chrysler, up 1/2 at 77 1/2 and Westinghouse Electric up 1 1/2 at 54 1/2.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks were higher, three lower and two unchanged.

Responding to the prospects of a great tanker-building program, traded, gaining 3 1/2. For the same reason, Newport News Shipbuilding advanced 2 1/2.

At depressing copper price news Anaconda slipped 1 1/4. Kennecott Copper 1 and Phelps Dodge 1/2. International Nickel dropped 1/2. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown eased fractionally despite reports of great steel demand and continued above-capacity operations.

High-priced International Business Machines continued to gain on its record earnings report of last week, adding 22 today.

Other gainers included Gulf Oil 2 1/4, Eastern Airlines 1, U.S. Rubber 1 1/2, Caterpillar 2 1/4, and U.S. Gypsum 3/4.

Powell Says He's Still Demo

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) said today he is still a Democrat even though he has endorsed the Republican Eisenhower - Nixon ticket in the coming election.

Powell told newsmen that "Eisenhower by virtual executive order has done more for civil rights during his term than Truman and Roosevelt."

Powell did not elaborate. Concerning reports that he might be "read out" of the Democratic party, Powell said:

"Nobody can read me out. The citizens can vote me out. I still consider myself a Democrat and I'll be more of a Democrat and work harder after this campaign."

Powell said he had made seven attempts to see Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate.

The congressman said he saw President Eisenhower and "reached an agreement" after contacting a member of the Republican National Committee.

Powell said he is still "weighing" his choice between Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, and Republican State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits in New York's senatorial race.

In all races, color-blind men outnumber women by 100 to one.

Hanna Tax Evasion Trial Delay Motion Is Denied

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Oct. 15 (AP)—A second defense motion for delay was denied today and the income tax evasion trial of Homer W. Hanna went forward as scheduled.

Federal Judge Sterling Hutcheson of Richmond, Va., also denied a defense motion that four counts of the indictment be changed from felony to misdemeanor offenses, and Hanna pleaded innocent to all six counts.

It took more than three hours to present the motion for continuance in U. S. District Court.

Hanna, 60, is clerk of U. S. District Court for Southern West Virginia and a long-time influential figure in Democratic politics. He is charged with evading payment of $31,777 in income taxes from 1949 through 1953.

Defense attorney Bruce Hoff of Parkersburg argued today that the central issue in the case is political, involving whether or not political contributions constituted taxable income of the defendant or merely passed through his hands.

Judge Hutcheson, appointed to hear the case when West Virginia's federal judges disqualified themselves, said the issue in no way involves politics but simply the guilt or innocence of the defendant on the charges. He also said Hanna had been represented by able counsel since his indictment and trial lawyers were engaged a month ago, which should have given them sufficient time.

Defense attorney Carl G. Bachmann of Wheeling introduced a five-part motion asking for a continuance to Nov. 19. He claimed, among other things, that defense attorneys had not time to prepare the case properly after the death last Aug. 25 of Charles J. Margiotti of Pittsburgh, Pa., chief defense counsel.

The government resisted the motion for continuance on the ground that Hanna had been represented by counsel ever since his indictment and no political prejudice had been shown. Asst. U. S. Atty. Roderick Devision also said that if the minds of the jurors were prejudiced this could be determined when they were questioned in impaneling a jury.

Alfred Nobel, founder of the Nobel Prize, was the inventor of dynamite.

BLUE CROSS helps keep your budget healthy, too!

Protect your budget from the strain of unexpected hospital bills. Join BLUE CROSS.

How much money would you set aside if you knew you were going to have a hospital bill to pay this year? There isn't any way to tell, is there? No one can predict the extent of an injury, or the size of a hospital bill.

Blue Cross can protect you against unforeseen hospital expenses, as it now protects more than 950,000 other Maryland citizens. Many of these Blue Cross subscribers can tell you that Blue Cross offers broad, realistic protection at a small monthly rate.

Key to Blue Cross:

"Service Benefits"

The heart of Blue Cross is hospital care. Blue Cross's way of providing for the hospital care you may need is "service benefits." These are, to put it simply, agreements between Blue Cross and the member hospitals to provide the hospital care you need.

The emphasis, you see, is on care—not cash. Blue Cross does not give you dollars to help pay your hospital bills. Instead Blue Cross, through its "service benefits" pays the hospital directly for the services covered in your membership.

You don't have to file a claim, or wait for reimbursement. Dollar payments are often not enough to cover hospital bills. Blue Cross records show that Blue Cross "service benefits" do often cover a subscriber's hospital expenses in full.

Find out now about Blue Cross

If there is a Blue Cross group where you work, ask your employer how you may join it. If there is no Blue Cross group where you work, and there are five or more people employed there, ask your employer about getting Blue Cross protection for you. Republicans At Keyser Told Eisenhower Is Urging Election Of Mrs. Davis Elkins

Party For Ike Climaxes GOP County Rally

Rep. R. M. Simpson Is Guest Speaker

KEYSER — President Eisenhower has ask for the election of Mrs. Davis Elkins to Congress Representative Richard M. Simpson, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, told a cheering audience in the Court House at Keyser Saturday night.

Coming here at the climax of a day of Republican organizational activities for Mineral, Grant Hardy, and Hampshire counties the annual Pennsylvania congress man told of an intimate conversation he had with the President in Pittsburgh in which the appeal was made in behalf of Mrs. Elkins. He pointed out that with Eisenhower as president, Mrs. Elkins would be in a position to work best for the interests of local problems.

"It is a practical matter", Simpson said. "When your money is spent for a Member of Congress, it should be for the person who can bring the most good to the people of the district. That is the thing that will get new factories for Keyser, Romney, Moorefield and Petersburg. And, I don't need to tell you that is the thing which will bring jobs to the young people who are now leaving home to find work and start life over among strangers instead of families and friends."

"The way to back up your vote for Ike, is to vote for Mrs. Elkins," exclaimed Simpson. "Don't send him there with his hands tied. Give him a member of Congress who will vote with him—not against him. This is only fair to the President and to the people who have elected him. But don't just do this for his sake," Simpson added, "do it for your own, and your children's."

The Republicans actually held three affairs at the Court House Saturday. Representatives came from Mineral and surrounding counties in the afternoon to participate in a forum, lead by local, state and national leaders. Late in the afternoon a birthday party for the President was held, under the leadership of a committee headed by W. B. Kesner. The night rally was the closing event.

GOP Leaders Meet At Keyser

Following a tour of several nearby West Virginia counties, Republican leaders and candidates held a rally at Keyser, in the interest of the entire GOP ticket. Among leaders and candidates at the all-day affair were left to right, State Senator Dayton Stemple, candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court; James A. Dixon, Mineral County Republican chairman and candidate for reelection as Circuit Clerk; Mrs. Molly Clabey, assistant director of Women's Activities in the Republican National Committee; Nicholas M. Holmes, nominee for State Commissioner of Agriculture; Theodore Dornon, nominee for State Treasurer; Mrs. Twila Sions, president of the Mineral County Republican Women's Club; Mrs. Richard M. Simpson; Representative Richard M. Simpson, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee; and Mrs. Davis Elkins, Republican nominee for Congress in the 2nd District.

Mrs. Fannie Weitzell Observes Ninety-Sixth Birthday At Party

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Fannie (Stark) Weitzell was the guest of honor at a recent birthday party at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Laura Eichhorn, 124 McCulloh Street.

Mrs. Weitzell, who was 96 years of age last Wednesday, is in good health and active for her age. She was born on a farm near Bittering, and married Harry Weitzell when 20 years of age.

Weitzell died November 1, 1893, leaving his widow with three children, four, seven and ten years of age, to raise, and a farm to manage.

This was a full time job, but it apparently was good for Mrs. Weitzell, who still recalls with a chuckle the first "air tight jars" which her husband brought home to her, she having always dried fruit in the oven of their wood-burning stove up to that time.

Mrs. Weitzell has been a member of Cherry Grove Church since her father helped build it in 1872. Although her sight is somewhat impaired due to her age, she still enjoys sewing and needlework. She was especially pleased with the number of birthday cards she received this year.

Mrs. Weitzell says that when she was living on the farm near Avilton, raising her family and caring for the livestock, there were few doctors and she was often called upon to serve as midwife for neighboring farm women. Many times, she recalls, in the dead of winter, she rode tandem on a big farm horse with a neighboring farmer, whose wife was about to become a mother.

Mrs. Weitzell has two children living, Mrs. Linnie Fike, Frostburg, and George Weitzell, who operates a farm near Accident. She has 12 grandchildren, 36 great-grandchildren, and 16 great-great-grandchildren.

St. Gabriel's Parish At Barton Using Fire Hall For Church Services

BARTON—Mass continued on regular schedule yesterday for members of the congregation of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church in Barton, despite the fact the church was destroyed by fire last Sunday.

Mass was celebrated in the fire hall owned by the Barton Volunteer Fire Company.

After the newly remodeled church was destroyed last Sunday, firemen volunteered their hall for a place for worship until a new church is erected.

Yesterday the 125 members of the congregation heard Mass in the fire hall which was converted into a church by volunteers. An altar was obtained from Frostburg, the church's old carpet was laid and folding chairs placed in the building.

Plans have not been made for the construction of a new church, but Rev. Linus E. Robinson, pastor, is scheduled to meet in Baltimore later this week to discuss plans for the church.

The day-long celebration featured a football game between the Potomac State and Shepherd College teams, and a homecoming dance in the college gymnasium.

Two Hunters Shot In Nearby West Virginia

KEYSER — The West Virginia small game hunting season which opened Friday, was only a day old before the first casualties were reported.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland were Willis Timbrook, 42, of Wiley Ford, and Arthur Moreland, 28, of Pinto, both suffering with gunshot wounds about the face and body. Attaches report both in "good" condition today.

Cpl. Evan Moody of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police, who is investigating the accidental shootings, said Timbrook was struck by pellets from a 16-gauge shotgun fired by Alden Waggoner, 20, of Davis Run near Wiley Ford.

Waggoner told Cpl. Moody that he had fired at a pheasant and did not notice Timbrook who was some distance away and down-bill from the bird. The pellets struck Timbrook in the head, hands, abdomen and lower lip.

Moreland, according to the investigating officer, was wounded by pellets from a weapon fired by Dale Blanch, also of Pinto. He and Moreland had been hunting together, he explained, but were separated at the time of the accident. The pellets struck Moreland in the head, right side of the face, abdomen and right shoulder, Cpl. Moody said.

Artist-Evangelist To Speak At Eckhart Baptist Church

ECKHART—Rev. Ding Teuling, nationally-known Gospel artist, will conduct a series of special meetings at Eckhart Baptist Church starting on Wednesday and continuing through Sunday, October 28 beginning promptly at 7:30 p. m. Each evening Mr. Teuling will illustrate his clear Gospel message with a full-color picture drawn in full view of the assembled audience and is then exposed to the awe-inspiring black-light, which will bring out hidden details and produce sensational effects. In addition he uses a battery of rheostatically-controlled colored lights which further enhance the picture.

Mr. Teuling is not new to this field. His sermons in word and picture have been featured at many of the leading Bible Conference and in churches of many denominations. Before entering the ministry, Mr. Teuling was employed as a commercial artist on national accounts. He is noted as a speaker for his clear understandable presentations of Gospel truth, appealing especially to teenagers.

A feature of the campaign will be an attendance contest in which the artist will present several original framed drawings to the individuals who invite the greatest number of visitors. The contest is open to all and is not limited to the members of the church. The church is located on Old Route No. 40 in Eckhart and the pastor, Rev. Brooks N. Henry extends a cordial invitation to all.

Railway Clerks Vote Support For Mahoney

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15 (AP)—George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for the Senate, and six Democratic congressional candidates today received the endorsement of a railway brotherhood.

The Railway Clerks Division of Railway Labor's Political League gave its nod of approval to Mahoney, A. Gordon Boone in the 2nd District, Rep. Edward A. Garmatz in the 3rd, Rep. George H. Fallon in the 4th, Rep. Richard E. Lankford in the 5th, John R. Foley in the 6th and Rep. Samuel N. Friedel in the 7th.

No stand was taken in the 1st (Eastern Shore) District where Democrat Hamilton P. Fox Jr. is opposing the re-election bid of GOP Rep. Edward T. Miller.

"In the district where no endorsement has been made by the league," the announcement said, "our members should... carefully consider all information available to them concerning the public records and attitudes of candidates and use their best judgment."

Of those who received endorsement, the union said, "... their records warrant our support and they will, if elected to Congress, view fairly and sympathetically the interests of working people and resist discriminatory legislation against unions and their members."

If you're in the right light, you can even look more charming.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The actress in her dressing room always uses light as equipment. When she goes onto the stage, it becomes a means of creating atmosphere — dramatizing her whole personality. This is an important function of lighting.

The same holds true in your home. To get this same effect of charm, lighting should be kept low in the evening when entertaining. Turn off overhead lighting and turn your lamp's three-way bulb down to 100 watts (it can be turned up to 200 or 300 for reading or bridge games). The lighting from a table-lamp at eye-level will wash out lines in the face and thus be more flattering. On the other hand, overhead lighting just emphasizes them.

You will also find that the new pink-colored bulbs create quite a different effect. They radiate a soft, flattering glow that is most flattering. In what light others view your appearance is always important. The clever woman, out for the evening, always tries to sit beside a table-lamp — not under the lights. This is just another art of making the most of your beauty potentials.

Besides soft lighting, achieve naturalness with cosmetics that harmonize with your own personal coloring. For evening your make-up can be deepened and enriched — but still in your regular, becoming shades.

Braddock Tank Painting Job Is Completed

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards announced yesterday afternoon the completion of reconditioning and painting of the Braddock water tank.

He said crews of the J. E. Dennison Company left the structure gleaming like a new coin as they completed the sandblasting and painting job on the 75,000 gallon water tank.

Commissioner Edwards and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum inspected the job yesterday afternoon and expressed satisfaction with the job.

The interior of the tank, Edwards said, was sandblasted and given three coats of special paint, and the exterior was scaled and painted with red lead primer and an aluminum finish coat.

He said he hopes the $4,500 job will mean many years of satisfactory service.

Ridgeley Post Will Meet Tonight

Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the home in Ridgeley.

Archie Lough, commander, will report on the caravan of legion posts from the 10th District of West Virginia which converged at Petersburg on Sunday for a meeting.

Approximately 15 members of the Ridgeley Post and the Auxiliary Unit traveled to Petersburg.

said, the Water Department has painted and reconditioned the Fort Hill, Ridgedale and Braddock water tanks at a cost of about $12,000.

The newest water storage facility, the North End tank, is still in good shape, he said.

The only remaining job needed to put the water storage facilities inside the city in good shape, he said, is to repair and calk the top courses of concrete slabs on the Fort Hill reservoir.

This work will be done by city forces from the Lake Gordon filter plant later this fall.

Teachers Meet Legislators

The Legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association met last night at Allegany High School with the Allegany County Delegation and State Senator Charles M. See.

What put the magic in the new kind of FORD?

The new Ford Fairlane 500 (118-inch wheelbase). Longer, lower, larger than many medium-priced cars, yet lower in price than most of them!

The roof got lower. And it's designed to let you make the easy entries and graceful exits you've always known.

The body got quieter. It's the strongest body ever built for a low-priced car. And no car in Ford's field has such generous sound proofing.

The room got bigger. There's head room to spare for a tycoon-type hat. There's real stretch-out leg room, too.

The lines got sweeter. Ford gives you the longest, lowest, low-priced car ever. Each graceful contour of its sculptured-in-steel body says, "Let's go!"

The style got smarter. With this new-look Ford you have a car that belongs anywhere! Example: all Fairlane models, including sedans, have the look of a hardtop.

The value got greater... and the price is still Ford low. The result—even more promise of buying a car that will keep its value high... a car that will stay worth more.

Drink 'For The Road' Undergoes Analysis

Time of the year when the motorist at a social gathering or elsewhere is advised to make his drink "for the road" a cup of coffee is approaching. For this reason there should be more than passing interest in the results of experiments released by a team of West Coast research scientists.

To ascertain the effects of coffee on a person who has been drinking, the researchers first plied six "guinea pigs"—teachers and students at Stanford University's medical school—with stiff drinks of liquor every 20 minutes over a period of two hours. Then the subjects were given a series of reaction tests.

Another day the same group was fortified with a dose of caffeine equal to two cups of coffee and then required to drink liquor as before. Repeating the same reaction tests, the researchers found only a 10 per cent improvement in performance. The scientific estimate was the difference was too slight to be significant.

The findings in this campus experiment are in close accord with the experience of metropolitan police with drivers who drink coffee as an antidote for liquor. Police believe the "one for the road" advice is dangerously misleading—that it exaggerates the efficacy of a cup of coffee in counteracting drinking, social or otherwise.

They advise against depending on coffee to overcome the effects of too much alcohol. They recognize that whether a man drinks is none of their business, but point out that when the same man gets behind the wheel of a car it is very much their business. The question is not whether they must arrest him, but whether he reaches his destination without harm to himself or others.

These Days

Tito

It was not supposed to happen until after the election, but the word is being passed around that Tito is to be certified for further American aid, particularly jet planes of which we do not have too many. Apparently, this aid to Tito is a reward for his speaking up to the pro-Stalinist element in Soviet Russia and for his continued service as a deviationist in the Soviet world. How much this aid will amount to, at this writing, I do not know, but it is my understanding that the certification will take place today. Congress specifically opposed aid to Tito and that is the reason for special certification.

Tito is a Communist. Yugoslavia is a Communist country. Tito was expelled from the Cominform by Stalin because he deviated from the Kremlin's insistence upon a hegemony over Communist parties throughout the world. Tito wanted to run his own Communist show. Khrushchev formed an alliance with Tito, the object of which was to downgrade Stalin and thereby to enhance the influence and, in time, the power of Khrushchev. This has produced an unbelievable commotion throughout the Communist world, each party being forced to reach a decision and the influence of the Kremlin being down-graded as much as Stalin.

Undoubtedly Tito was summoned to Yalta for a conference on the down-grading of Stalin and his own position in the Communist world. At any rate, he went to Yalta where the Russian Communist leaders met him as well as the Hungarian leader, Erno Gero. Tito came away from Yalta neither the leader of the Communist world nor a fief of the Kremlin. Apparently the State Department is satisfied with Tito's conduct at Yalta and plans to reward him by further aid.

But the fact of the matter is that when Khrushchev apologized to Tito for Stalin's and Beria's misconduct, it made Tito very happy and he toured Russia more the prodigal son than the friendly guest and he has been a supporter of Khrushchev's program in the Soviet International and he has refused to permit an inspection of the use of the material aid which this country sent to Yugoslavia. On what terms is further aid given to him? What strings are attached?

When one inquires about Tito, it is found that just as there is a pro-Arab clique in the State Department, so there is a pro-Tito clique who believe that Tito will eventually weaken Soviet Russia by succeeding in tearing away from the Kremlin some of the satellites, particularly Poland and Hungary. They believe that if Poland and Hungary join Yugoslavia, Romania must follow.

Into this complex situation enters the problem of Roman Catholicism. Yugoslavia, Poland and Hungary are broadly speaking Roman Catholic countries. Poland has historically been one of the pillars in Europe of Roman Catholicism and the most Roman Catholic of the Slavic countries. Under communism, the Roman Catholic Church has been persecuted and in Yugoslavia, Archbishop Stepinac was one of the earliest victims of Communist atrocities. There is no evidence of any lessening of anti-Catholicism in Tito's Yugoslavia.

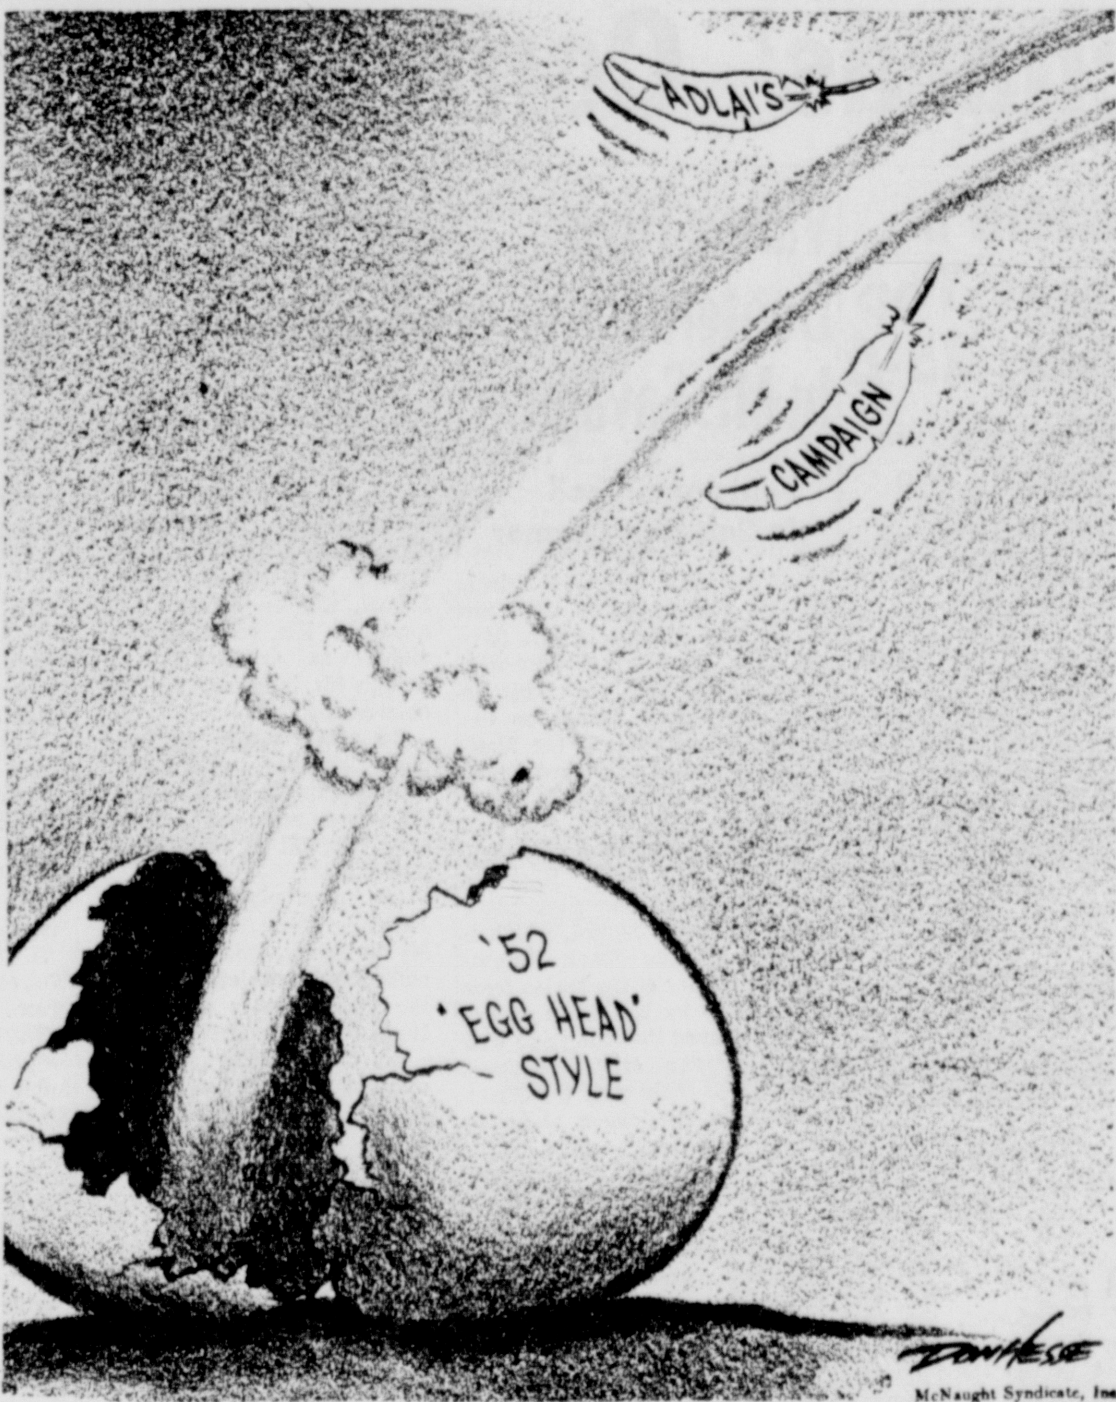

It is for this reason that whenever opposition to Tito arises in this country, it is often attributed to a Catholic plot, which is nonsense because there are many, apart from Catholics, who suspect the rising power of Tito in world affairs.

The question of aid is one of political policy. The so-called weak and backward countries are willing to accept aid wherever they can get it. Aid has become a business, a method of importing capital and capital goods either without repayment or with remotely postponed repayments which are tantamount to a free gift. Thus the budgets of these countries can be built up by aid rather than by taxation. It is good business and most of these countries want to engage in this business on the basis of something for nothing, namely that whatever aid comes to them must have no quid pro quo.

They get; we give. That is all. It is therefore very bad business and very bad politics for us. Among the worst offenders have been Tito, Nehru and Nasser, who even adopt the attitude that when they take our aid, they are doing us a favor. What is the favor? How do we benefit by the transaction?

Undecided Vote Is The Key On Bay And Beach

By Joseph Alsop

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Neither Dwight D. Eisenhower nor Adlai E. Stevenson would find very much to cheer about, if they took time off from their larger duties to go among the voters of Bay Ridge and Brighton Beach, here in the wilds of Brooklyn.

As in most parts of the country, the President is not doing quite as well today in these two very different and highly significant New York City districts as he did back in 1952. But in Bay Ridge and Brighton Beach, Eisenhower's losses are not as yet fatal. Adlai Stevenson's gains are not as yet significant. The real balance of power seems to rest with the undecided voters, who plumped for Eisenhower four years ago and are now genuinely in doubt about where they want to go this time.

Meaningful Areas

Bay Ridge and Brighton Beach may not mean very much to any but professional politicians familiar with the finer shades of New York state politics. Nonetheless, they are very meaningful even in national terms. Two great national voting groups with considerable inner coherence, Jews (without too many really rich Jews to distort the picture) and Catholics (including many Catholics of Irish descent) are strongly concentrated in Brighton Beach and Bay Ridge.

Physically, Bay Ridge appears somewhat the older section. The avenues are busy enough, with here and there a church or a store selling religious articles to proclaim that this is a Catholic stronghold. But the side streets are drably quiet, lined with long, drab rows of rather old gray brick working class houses, of the sort that shelters one family upstairs and another downstairs, with a complex admission system of bells, buzzers and primary and secondary floor doors to bewilder visitors.

Over toward the Ridge itself, where the view is pretty a few of the larger, older, more spacious houses still stand proudly in their own yards. And there are trees everywhere; the streets are full of pleasant-mannered, rosy-faced children; and altogether Bay Ridge is not a bad place at all. Neither is Brighton Beach, although here the two family houses are replaced by vast, dreary warrens of apartment houses; and instead of churches, of course, there are synagogues and Jewish community centers.

The two districts are closely comparable, too, in income level. In Jewish Brighton Beach, you find more enterprisers—men who make their living from small shops and stores of different kinds. In Catholic Bay Ridge you find more people work with their hands—but they are generally men in the higher paid trades and industries. If there is a differential, it favors Brighton Beach. Yet Brighton Beach is solidly, almost passionately Democratic, while Bay Ridge is rather strongly Republican.

Boringly Repetitious

The story was almost boringly repetitious in the vast apartment house on Brighton Beach's Coney Island Avenue, where the able professional poller, Lou Harris, and this reporter sounded out Jewish election year sentiment. One nervous-seeming woman appeared to be covering up a Wallace vote in 1948. One brisk, intelligent, morbid man had voted for Eisenhower in 1952 but was now rather glumly returning to the Democratic fold.

"I find I like Ike like the man but not like the Republican politician," he said.

Otherwise, the responses were solidly, orthodoxly Democratic; and this was largely true even with respect to the Senate race between the Republican Jew,

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Three Tuesdays from today you will be playing tick-tack-toe with the fate of a notion. You should thank your 48 stars that no man has invented a reverse gear for roller towels.

You can change your mind of ten between now and November 6. In a final door-to-door campaign you may discard both candidates in favor of a brush.

We know that America will survive and that the sun will rise on Wednesday. No matter how you mark your ballot it approximates penciling a mustache on a billboard. Or sticking a three-pronged fork in a Captain Kidd treasure map.

Fortunately for the unavoidable future campaign threats are as ephemeral as campaign promises. And we don't believe half of what each man says about the other. One-quarter would be enough to indict.

Would they say the same things about Clare Luce Boots if she ran for the Casa Blanca? If the lady is not for burning then the gentleman is not for singeing.

Yet this has been an anemic campaign compared to Jackson, Cleveland and McKinley. Then the poison pen was smitier than the sword.

If nice guys don't win baseball pennants then even nicer guys don't cop elections. This autumn the locusts have a "D" on their backs. Which is balanced by the South-bound grasshoppers with an "R" on their saddle-blankets.

It's just about this time of the campaign when Jim Farley breaks a long silence by raising an eyebrow.

GOP Campaign Committee Hires Nellor To Head Radio-TV Effort

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — In both business and politics you have to be careful whom you hire and who your associates are. Yet the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee has hired as its radio-TV director the man who used an introduction from anti-Semitic Gerald L. K. Smith to smear Mrs. Anna Rosenberg when she was up for confirmation as assistant secretary of defense.

He is Ed Nellor, former cohort and satellite of Sen. Joe McCarthy, who during the bitter battle to defeat Mrs. Rosenberg, took a trip to New York with McCarthy's investigator, Don Surine, to see Benjamin Freedman, ex-Jew who has been employed by the Arab League.

At the instance of Nellor and Surine, Freedman came to Washington to work against Mrs. Rosenberg, together with an ex-Communist named Ralph de Sola who claimed Mrs. Rosenberg had been a Communist member of the John Reed Club. As a result, Communist charges were leveled against her by McCarthy on the Senate floor.

Later, Sen. Kefauver read to the Senate the text of a cable sent by Freedman, the man Nellor had helped bring to Washington, to Ahmad Hussein, head of the Young Egypt party, which said:

"Dearest Brother: Letter received. Attending everything requested. Very busy with United Nations situation. Extend Eminence wishes for continued vision, courage, strength, struggle on behalf justice his people. Giving him fullest cooperation. Family send all love."

His "eminence" was identified as the Mufti of Jerusalem, subsidized by Hitler to stir up anti-Jewish hatred during the war.

The Senate Record

When Kefauver and Senator Russell of Georgia dug into the charges against Mrs. Rosenberg, here is some of the false evidence they found had been encouraged by Surine and Nellor, now radio-TV director for the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee:

Senator Russell: Who were the members of this committee that you discussed it (Mrs. Rosenberg's confirmation) with?

De Sola: The gentleman was introduced to me as one of the investigators of your committee.

Gerald L. K. Smith

Cross - examining Freedman, Sen. Russell asked: You did not ask them any questions — people coming to your home at 12 o'clock at night?

Freedman: No, somebody telephoned me from Washington and said: "Two men are coming up to see you about Rosenberg."

Sen. Russell: Who telephoned you from Washington?

Freedman: Mr. Smith.

Sen. Russell: Do you know his business?

Freedman: I think he is in the publishing business — it is this Gerald Smith.

Sen. Russell: Gerald L. K. Smith?

Freedman: Yes.

Sen. Russell: Just what did Mr. Smith tell you?

Freedman: He said, "There are two men on their way to New York to see you."

Sen. Russell: All right, how long did these two men, Nellor and Surine, stay in your home?

Freedman: A few minutes.

Sen. Russell: Did they ask you any questions as to what you knew about Anna Rosenberg?

Freedman: Yes. They may — yes, they did. And I referred them to De Sola, and gave them a card and they went away.

Sen. Russell: What did they say when they came and rang your doorbell? Were you awake?

Freedman: They said they were investigating the Anna Rosenberg matter. And I didn't know whether they were reporters or FBI men, or what they were.

In the end, it was proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that Mrs. Rosenberg had never been a member of the John Reed Club, never had any Communist connections. After many heartaches and headlines she was unanimously confirmed by the Senate.

It was one of the most sensational and publicized charges made by Senator McCarthy, however, and Republican leaders had every reason to know the score when they hired Nellor to handle their congressional campaign publicity.

Merry-Go-Round

Labor leaders have a new way of describing Sen. Goldwater's attacks on labor. "All that glitters," they say, "is not Goldwater." Mayor Robert Wagner of New York has been discouraged about chances of winning the senatorial race in New York. He has told friends confidentially that he's sorry he agreed to run. Wagner expects to be overwhelmed by the New York Jewish vote which he believes will go to his Republican rival, Jack Javits. Louis Lautier of the National Negro Press Association is predicting a swing of Negro voters away from the Democrats. Lautier is convinced that Negro leaders, especially ministers, will persuade thousands of Negroes in crucial Northern cities to vote Republican.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Was in good form for the gala night dance. That is, except when I tried the polka and the dance that goes with the Rotterdam Salute. When it comes to those speedy whirling dances my sense of rhythm weakens. Guess I will have to take some lessons from Fred Astaire when I get back home.

PLEASE NOTE

They shove the clock forward an hour every night en route from Hoboken to Le Harve. That can be very confusing. In fact it almost resulted in my having a tragic experience. One morning I nearly missed my breakfast.

FOG

Slightly foggy today, but plenty of visibility. Only an occasional blast of the foghorn. In 1939 I came through the submarine zone from France on the Ile de France. The fog was thick. The ship was traveling at top speed but in deadly silence. Blowing of foghorn was not permitted. Some trip!

BRIEFLY

Found all my favorite desserts on the remarkable menu card of the Nieuw Amsterdam. These included: Charlotte russe, baba au rhum, apple dumpling and biccuit tortoni. . . . The ship's tailor was rushed the first two days pressing clothes that had become wrinkled in packing.

VIVACIOUS BLONDE

There was a tall blonde aboard who must have broken all transatlantic trip records for non-stop vivacity. She oozed charm from morn to night all the way from Hoboken to Le Havre. She changed costumes about six times a day. She had a different evening gown every night. She reserved her most sensational gown for the gala. The question is constantly discussed as to whether women dress to please themselves, arouse the envy of other women or attract men. This blonde was a triple threat. It was evident she was pleasing herself, attracting male attention and arousing the envy of other women. Especially the last named. Some of the feminine passengers were so envious that they referred to her as "that blonde woman."

SPAGHETTI

Am a spaghetti enthusiast from far back. Had my first education in the fine art of spaghetti handling at Guffanti's, Manhattan. I took a post graduate course at the Fior D'Italia in San Francisco. Last night I passed the supreme test in spaghetti handling. I consumed a portion while garbed in formal attire. This calls for considerable dexterity. The trouble with many young spaghetti eaters is that they are too intense. The secret is in relaxation, skilled handling of the fork and the approach.

FAMOUS FIRST

The first foreign bankers to grant a loan to the United States government were those of Amsterdam. That was in 1782 in the cradle days of our country when it needed money to survive. The loan was for $30,000,000.

SOLDIER POET

My favorite love poem is the one titled, "My Best Beloved Has My Heart" by Sir Philip Sidney, the soldier poet. Sir Philip was killed in Holland while fighting on the side of the Dutch in a war against Spain. Sir Philip Sidney was so popular with the women of his time that many named their infants after him. That was the origin of the use of Sidney as a girl's name.

UNIQUE

The most unique city I have seen in my travels so far is Venice, Italy. I have never been to Amsterdam. I may put the Dutch capital at the top of the list after I've seen it. I am informed it has within the city limits 40 canals, 100 islands and 400 bridges!

HISTORIC SPOT

Am thinking of visiting Doorn when in Holland. That is the place where Larry MacPhail and a couple of other members of the AEF tried to kidnap the kaiser just after the end of World War I. You will recall that the kaiser fled to Doorn just before the armistice. The Netherlands gave him shelter and declined to permit his extradition as a war criminal. MacPhail and his pals decided to go to Holland and bring the kaiser in. They nearly succeeded too. They actually got inside the kaiser's house. MacPhail has an ash tray he picked up there as a souvenir.

Congenital Defects May Be Reduced In Future

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many of the defects with which children come into the world have nothing to do with heredity. Such congenital abnormalities include certain types of mental retardation, blindness, deafness, heart disease, epilepsy, cerebral palsy, hydrocephalus (water on the brain), and mongolism. They are not handed down from generation to generation through the germ cells but are acquired while the baby is being formed.

The defects often can be traced to a specific illness or period of stress during pregnancy. After conception, the ovum divides into millions of cells, which gather together to grow into different organs. In this respect, the fetus follows an orderly schedule.

Most of this growth takes place during the early weeks of pregnancy so that the baby is almost developed by the end of the third month. Thereafter, he increases in size until ready for birth. The lenses of the eyes begin to develop during the fifth week, the lips during the sixth week, embryonic hands during the eighth week, and the ears during the ninth week.

If something happens to the mother during these developing periods, the structures being formed at that time may suffer the consequences. This explains why a woman who goes through a bout of German measles in the fifth week of pregnancy may give birth to a child with congenital cataract. If the infection occurred in the ninth week of gestation, the baby might be born deaf.

In this respect, the timing of the maternal stress experienced during early pregnancy determines the type of abnormality. The ability to take stress is influenced by the mother's health, which may be at a low ebb because of diabetes or a disorder of the kidneys, heart, or glandular system.

All these factors will receive more attention in the future in an over-all effort to reduce the incidence of developmental defects. We will not go to the extreme of putting all pregnant women on a country estate to loll around like millionaires, nor in a germ-free atmosphere to minimize infection. But milday's health will be stressed and extreme care will be exercised from the day she learns she is preg-

Groucho Marx showed his little Melinda the picture of a big whale. "It could swallow your mother and me at a single gulp," he told her, and when Melinda was visibly unimpressed, added, "It could swallow the cook, too." At this Melinda burst into tears. "Who then," she wailed, "is going to get me my supper?"

Alan Green reports that his friends have perfected a new game called "Conversation Stopper." The object is to say something after which nothing else possibly can be added. One game was won without question by a lady who remarked casually, "My grandfather used to have a wonderful fund of stories. Pity he never told any of them!"

When her guests showed no signs of leaving, though the hour was well past midnight, the frantic Mrs. Abernathy was heard beseeching the pianist, "Mr. Green, for heavens sake, play Debussy's 'Clear the Room'!"

Baltimore Extends Richards' Contract Through 1959

Whitey Ford Captures 1956 Earned Run Title

Chicago Lands Archie Moore, Patterson Go

Heavy Title Bout Set For Nov. 30

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Floyd Patterson and Archie Moore have agreed to meet in a 15-round heavyweight title fight in Chicago Stadium Friday, Nov. 30, the International Boxing Club announced today.

The contract signing will be in Chicago next week and terms will be announced at that time, the IBC said.

The ageless Moore was knocked out in the 11th round of his heavyweight title fight with champion Rocky Marciano, now retired, in September of last year.

Patterson hasn't fought since last June 8 when he defeated Hurricane Jackson in 12 rounds. He fractured a hand in that fight, but has been working back into shape.

In New York, Jim Norris, president of the IBC, said negotiations on home television and theater television were going on now. The fact that Nov. 30 is a Friday, one of the two days a week in which the IBC broadcasts and telecasts network fights, indicated that the 15-round bout will be telecast into the nation's living rooms.

Norris said the fighters will split 60 per cent of the net receipts and television but he said the percentages each will receive had not yet been decided. He also said no decision has been reached yet on ticket prices.

Under the pact Moore and Patterson agreed to be in Chicago three weeks before the fight for the final phases of their training.

The IBC said both already have started training. Patterson at Greenwood Lake, N.Y., and Moore at Lakeside, Calif.

Yankee's Mark 2.47; Burdette Heads N.L.

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, who owns the majors' highest lifetime pitching percentage, has captured the American League earned run championship for the first time.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press revealed today that Ford gave up only 62 earned runs in 226 innings for an ERA of 2.47. He edged Cleveland's Herb Score, another brilliant lefthander, who finished with a 2.57 mark.

Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves won the National League title in another tight competition. He beat out teammate Warren Spahn, who had the lowest earned run average in 1947 and 1953.

In 256 frames, Burdette yielded 77 earned tallies for a 2.71 era. Spahn, a 20-game winner, gave up 87 untainted runs in 281 innings for a 2.79. Burdette wound up with a 19-10 won-lost mark.

Ford has put together a truly remarkable record in five big league seasons. The 27-year-old native of New York City, who divided two decisions in the recent World Series against Brooklyn, shows a lifetime mark of 90 victories against 28 defeats for a .741 percentage.

Cops Two Titles

The Yankee star topped the American League in percentage in 1956, winning 19 games and losing only six for .760. He is only the seventh pitcher in his circuit to win the earned run and percentage titles in the same season. Lefty Grove of Philadelphia and Walter Johnson of Washington each did it four times and Stan Coveleski of the Senators and Lefty Gomez, Spud Chandler and Ed Lopat of the Yankees did it once.

Score, the majors' strikeout leader with 263, permitted 71 earned runs in 249 innings while winning 20 games and dropping nine.

Behind Score came two other Cleveland mainstays, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon. Wynn finished with a 2.69 ERA on 83 earned runs in 278 innings while Lemon had 86 in 255 frames for a 3.04 mark. Both Wynn and Lemon also were 20-game winners.

Frank Lary of Detroit, outstanding in his sophomore year, was fifth in the earned run race with 3.06. He won his last eight starts, boosting his record to 21-13.

Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants, the 1954 National League earned run leader, finished a close third this year. The durable southpaw, who posted a 20-13 record, had an ERA of 2.86.

Sal Maglie of Brooklyn, one of the leading candidates for comeback-of-the-year honors, was fourth with 2.87. He was followed by Don Newcombe of the Dodgers, who had an ERA of 3.09.

Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox, the American League pace-setter in 1955, finished eighth the past season with 3.33. Bob Friend, Pittsburgh ace, was 12th with a 3.50 mark after heading the National League in '55.

Confidence Vote Given To Manager

Present Salary Is Continued; New V.P. Position Created

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15 (AP)—Paul Richards got a two-year extension of his contract through 1959, a full vote of confidence, and promise of administrative help with no interference, from the Baltimore Orioles today.

The acts sought to still rumors that the Orioles brass hadn't been happy with Richards serving for the last two years with titles of both manager on the field and in the office, an unusual set-up in major league baseball.

The extension of Richards' contract, originally set to expire next year, "reaffirms the board's unanimous confidence in Mr. Richards and expresses our full satisfaction in the demonstrated growth of the Orioles under his direction," said a statement issued by the directors.

Jim Keely, president, insisted afterward the announcement at this time was made to show the "utmost confidence in Richards."

He said the directors knew the job of elevating the Orioles couldn't be accomplished in three years and so gave him a five-year plan.

Richards was hired two years ago after the Orioles assumed the St. Louis Browns' franchise in 1954 and finished last as usual under Manager Jimmy Dykes. Richards got them to seventh in 1955 and sixth this year.

"We feel that a renewal of Mr. Richards' contract at this time allows him the opportunity to continue his long-range planning with regard to the development of player talent, the key to building a pennant winning team for Baltimore," the Orioles statement declared.

Richards said, "With a little luck, we will have a contending ball club at the end of five years."

Keely said the extension of the contract for Richards—who reportedly had been sought to fill managerial vacancies at Detroit and Cleveland—calls for a "continuation" of his present salary, which is reported at either $40,000 or $45,000 a year.

As to the hiring of what will be known as an executive vice president—a new Orioles position—both Keely and Richards denied he will in any way reflect on Richards' authority.

The directors declared that "as in the past, Mr. Richards will continue to have full jurisdiction over all player personnel, both on the Baltimore club and throughout our farm organization."

They said the new officer's duties "will be to direct and coordinate all administrative and executive affairs in the front office" and he will work both with the board and Richards. The board said before hiring the executive it "plans to make a thorough survey."

Hart Is Victor By TKO In 3rd

Stops Earl Dennis In Bout At St. Nick

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Garnett (Sugar) Hart, a smooth and hard-hitting welterweight prospect from Philadelphia, tonight racked up his ninth consecutive victory by stopping Earl Dennis in three rounds of a telecast bout at St. Nicholas Arena. Hart weighed 146, Dennis 143½.

Dr. Alexander Schiff examined Dennis, a New Yorker, after the third round ended with Earl on the deck. He then ordered referee Teddy Martin to stop the scrap. It went into the book as a third round technical knockout as the bell had not rung for the start of the fourth.

Hart, a slender 21-year-old with fast hands and a solid wallop, staggered his 24-year-old rival twice in the torrid third and dropped him with a short right a split second before the ell sounded to end the round.

It was Hart's 17th win in 18 fights and his 15th knockout. It's easy to see why he's called Sugar. He looks and fights like Sugar Ray Robinson in his younger days.

Fetchick Cops Western Open In 4-Way Playoff

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Husky Mike Fetchick captured the biggest prize of his six-year pro golfing career today when he fired a 6-under-par 66 to win a four-way playoff in the Western Open Golf Tournament.

Fetchick finished five strokes ahead of Jay Hebert from Sanford, Fla., who had a 71, and six ahead of former PGA champ Doug Ford, who wound up at par 72.

Youthful Don January blew his chances early by going five over par after only six holes. The best he could do was a 75 over the hilly Presidio course.

The three finishing behind Fetchick each received checks for $2,000.

The long-hitting winner collected a belated birthday present of $3,000. He turned 34 last Saturday. The first prize check was a bigger plum than his entire 1955 winnings of $4,009.

LaSalle, Allegany Jayvee Football Players Injured

Two local high school football players on opposing teams were injured in a game yesterday afternoon at Campobello and were hospitalized.

Gary Shook, of 446 Bond Street, a player for the Junior Varsity at Allegany High School, will be X-rayed this morning. His condition last night was satisfactory although his injuries were undetermined.

He was reported to have been knocked unconscious while making a tackle. Young Shook was admitted to Memorial Hospital for observation and X-rays.

The other player, Richard Murray, about 15, of 1018 Myrtle Street, suffered a possible fractured left ankle in the game. He is a LaSalle High School football player.

He will be X-rayed this morning. Attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital said last night his condition was satisfactory. Allegany Jayvees won the game 19-0.

Hargreaves Scores Pair Of Touchdowns

Coach Paul Cuba's Allegany High School junior varsity football team posted its initial win of the season yesterday at Campobello by downing LaSalle High School's Little Explorers by the score of 19-0.

The Campobello eleven had lost its opening game to the Romney High Jayvees, 13-12.

Two of Allegany's touchdowns were credited to Bob Hargreaves, who scored on a pass from Gary Shook, and scooped up a fumble and ran 55 yards to paydirt. The Little Campers' third id was registered by Gary Shook on a 30-yard gallop. Glenn Davis ran the winners' lone extra point.

Gary Shook, Allegany sophomore, was injured making a tackle in the third quarter and was replaced by his brother, Wayne, an eighth grader. Richard Murray of LaSalle also was forced to withdraw due to a leg injury.

Magistrate Cites Needs Of Juveniles To Clergy

Magistrate Morris Baron of the Cumberland Juvenile Court told the Cumberland Ministerial Association yesterday that the task of the clergy in this generation is to rebuild the home and see that its foundation rests upon faith.

Magistrate Baron spoke at the monthly meeting of the association at Central YMCA.

The magistrate said: "The Juvenile Court, compared with other courts concerned with the administration of justice, is rather young. Where parental failure casts the child off, or neglects to give it the proper training to prepare it for decent manhood, the Juvenile Court steps in and assumes the duties of the parent. But the court cannot give what a child needs most, parental love. It can only offer guidance and direction.

"Juvenile courts are dedicated to the service of youth, and do not deal with property rights or other civil rights, but are interested in restoring boys and girls who have erred to their proper place in the community and in society.

"Juvenile delinquency is not a new ailment, but has always been with us, and has only recently been brought out into the light of day. We can no longer ignore it without jeopardizing our entire future, for these youngsters are going to be our leaders and legislators of the future, and unless they are grounded in the principles which we have inherited from our fathers, the whole structure of our society is endangered. We must look to our homes, schools and churches. There are many evil forces that are struggling for the minds and souls of our children."

Tells Ministers Of Duty

Magistrate Baron said that with modern day comic books, murder and violence exhibited on television, card playing and heavy drinking on the part of the parents, "there is no wonder that our youth is going astray and is lax in its behavior."

Magistrate Baron told the ministers that it is their duty to again restore the abiding force of the Ten Commandments as amplified by the Sermon On The Mount to be a deciding factor in human conduct. He said: "The fear and love of God must be re-established in the hearts of men in order to produce respect for parents, and together will make the home a worthy place to live in. This, to my mind, is applied Christianity and the task that I lay before you."

Three Persons Are Paroled In Check Cases

Chief Judge George Henderson yesterday in Circuit Court gave two young girls and a man suspended sentences of 18 months on charges of passing bad checks.

In addition they must make restitution of approximately $580 and were ordered to pay fines.

William P. Deihl, who had been working in Canton, Ohio, received two 18-month terms in the House of Correction, both of which were suspended.

Deihl was fined $100 and ordered to make restitution of $280 at the rate of $50 twice monthly.

Betty Lou Hamburg, city, received a suspended sentence and a fine of $50. Her sister, Violet Y. Cornwell, received the same sentence. The Hamburg girl, who is 16 years of age, is married and has one child. Her sister is also married, but is separated from her husband. Restitution of $100 is to be made by the Hamburg girl and $200 by the Cornwell girl.

Deihl and the Cornwell girl were represented by Fred Anderson, while Earl E. Manges was attorney for the Hamburg girl. Counsel said that none of the three had previous records.

The trio worked a check passing scheme in which 11 checks in various amounts were passed in Allegany county, with Deihl cashing them at establishments after one of the girls made out the checks and the other endorsed them.

Judge Henderson placed them on strict parole terms and warned them that any violation of provisions in the future will result in immediate sentencing to penal institutions.

City Continues Efforts For Interstate Route 40

The city is continuing its efforts in support of having that section of Route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa., brought under the Federal Highway System.

Mayor Roy W. Eves pointed out that fact yesterday in answer to a letter from the Junior Association of Commerce urging city cooperation in getting the by-passed section included in the federal plan.

Eves said council has discussed but never adopted a resolution in regard to the plan, but he has been in contact with state officials, senators, congressmen and the governor. He said he would send a letter to the Jaycees explaining what contacts had been made and letting them know "We have not been asleep" on the matter.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said every effort should be exerted and that if ever there was an important highway, economically and historically, the Hancock-Washington section is. He said efforts should be continued to get a fair and equitable share of the federal program, and referred to his continued support of the C&O Canal Parkway project.

Commissioner William V. Keegan said highways had to be open to bring people into the area and said improved highways are needed here.

On other matters council referred to Keegan with power to act a complaint from A. B. Taylor in South End about theft of apples and produce from his garden and a request for protection of his property.

Council approved payment of $300 to the Cumberland Choral Society to further its work, noting that the amount is an increase over last year but still below the figure requested for this year.

At the same time it referred to Finance Commissioner John J. Long a request for $500 from the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra.

A resolution of respect to the memory of David Kauffman, local attorney and one of the assistants to the attorney general, who died last week, was read and entered into the minutes.

A $1,575 bid from the Pen Bar Motor Company for a vehicle for the Water Department was referred to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards for report.

Local Bakers Up Bread Cost

The price of bread went up two cents a loaf in the Cumberland district yesterday to make the cost 21 cents retail.

Bakeries in Cumberland and Allegany county do a heavy business in the tri-state area.

One spokesman for a Cumberland bakery said that the price increase was necessary due to substantial hikes in wages, health and welfare pensions since 1953 amounting to 44½ cents per hour.

There has been little increase in the costs of basic ingredients of bread in the same period, but the cost of services, new equipment and trucks has increased greatly.

The price of baked goods in Cumberland area is one of the lowest in the United States, such markets as Harrisburg, Reading and Lancaster have been charging 22 cents a loaf for some months and in Philadelphia a pound loaf of bread costs 23 cents.

Cumberland bakeries sell 18-ounce loaves for 21 cents even though it is two ounces heavier than the standard loaf in the Pennsylvania area.

Man Is Robbed Of $60, Police Seek "Gypsies"

Frostburg Resident Reports Incident

A man and woman described as "gypsies" who spoke in broken English, assaulted an elderly Frostburg man yesterday along U. S. Route 40 west of that community after taking some $60 from the victim.

John McKenzie told this story to Frostburg police, who notified State Police. The victim said he was walking in the direction of Frostburg about one quarter of a mile from the city limits.

An auto traveling east stopped along the highway. McKenzie said a woman got out of the parked car and approached him asking where she could buy some chickens since the church she belonged to was planning on having a supper.

During the conversation the woman grabbed the victim's pocketbook from the front pocket of his pants and tossed it to the man in the car.

Meanwhile McKenzie attempted to get into the car and retrieve his pocketbook and money. The driver removed the money and tossed the pocketbook out of the car.

While attempting to get his money, McKenzie said he was shoved to the ground and the couple drove on toward Frostburg.

The incident occurred so suddenly that McKenzie was unable to get a good description of the couple although he described them as gypsies and they spoke in broken English.

The car in which they were traveling was reported to have been blue and white. Sgt. William F. Baker, State Police Criminal investigator, is investigating.

Brush Fire Burns Acres Near B&O

About three acres of land located between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the old C&O Canal in the Mexico Farms area were scorched yesterday afternoon due to a brush fire.

Volunteer firemen from District 16 Fire Company, armed with rakes and five gallon Indian pumps, fought the flames for about an hour before bringing it under control.

Leroy Shoemaker, one of the volunteers, said the men also used a 250 gallon tank with a portable pump to combat the blaze.

They have from three to four hundred feet of hose on the pump for fighting such type fires. The flames spread rapidly since the ground was very dry from lack of recent rain.

Firemen surmise the fire may have been caused from sparks of a passing locomotive. The volunteers are reminding residents to use more care and caution in order to avert similar fires.

In yesterday's fire, which was reported by a resident of the area, one home was in the vicinity but in no danger of being burned as the fire ate its way from the railroad tracks to the canal.

Moore Resigns Brewery Post

Jack F. Moore, Gephart Drive has accepted a position with the sales department of Electro-Magic Corporation of Detroit, Mich., manufacturers of automatic kitchen and home appliances, according to an announcement from Michael Forey, district sales manager.

Moore, who has been sales manager with the Cumberland Brewing Company here for the past couple of years, announced his resignation to accept the Detroit position.

After a short period in Detroit, he expects to take over an eastern distributorship, and for the present at least, will continue his residence here.

People Behind Iron Curtain Yearn For Homes Of Own, Realtors Told

Men and women living behind the Iron Curtain have the same yearnings as other people for homes of their own, Harry S. Boswell Jr., Mt. Rainier, told members of the Maryland Real Estate Association here last week.

The government, he said, favors multi-family dwelling units but made allowance for 30 per cent of the construction under the current five-year plan to be individual homes.

None of these single family dwellings built in housing developments as in America, he said, but are dotted around the country on small plots.

They are not easily built, he added, since the best materials are used for government projects, and individuals must scramble around for what is left.

Most of the homes are small, he explained, and built of mud and clay over a wood frame.

Ridgeley Church To Build Addition

Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, is making plans for the construction of a $35,000 educational building to the side of the church shown above. The addition will house a new chapel, three adult Sunday School rooms, two rest rooms, a pastor's study and a church school library. Rev. Harold L. May, pastor, said remodeling in some parts of the church will begin immediately. Construction of the new wing to the plant will start early in the spring. A kickoff dinner to launch the campaign to raise the funds for the addition will be held tomorrow at the Ridgeley High School cafeteria.

Churches Plan To Take Part In Fund Drive

The Cumberland Ministerial Association has voted to take part in the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

All youth organizations of the participating churches will canvass the city on the evening of October 30. It will be in keeping with the "trick or treat" theme of the season.

However the young people will be requesting much needed funds for unfortunate children overseas. The drive will be under the direction of Rev. Norris L. Cook, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

During the drive names and addresses of anyone who wishes to donate used clothing to Goodwill Industries will be solicited.

At a later date trucks will call at the homes to collect the clothing. During the regular monthly meeting held yesterday at Central YMCA, with Rev. Maurice D. Robertson, presiding, standing committees were appointed.

The film, "Martin Luther," will be shown at 7:30 p. m., October 28, Reformation Sunday, at the First Presbyterian Church, and will be sponsored by the combined youth organizations of the church as well as St. Luke's Lutheran and St. John's Lutheran church.

The association voted that participating churches will recognize Reformation Sunday as every minister will preach on the general topic, "The Continuing Reformation."

Rev. William R. Snyder, chairman of the program committee, announced that Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegheny County public schools, will be guest speaker at next month's meeting.

He will speak on "The Philosophy of a Total Education Program of Allegheny County."

Kiwanians To Hear Brenton Thursday

C. B. Brenton, representing the Railroad Community Committee of Baltimore, will speak at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday in Central YMCA. His subject will be "Modernizing Transportation Regulations."

Craft Union Chest Drive Rolls Along

Crafts engaged in building the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch have pledged $2,000 to the Cumberland Community Chest Campaign, according to Lewis J. Ort, general chairman.

The report was presented to Capt. Daniel Biggs, of the Chest's Sales Army, at a meeting yesterday in the office of Consolidated Engineering Company.

Howard Turner, superintendent for the prime contractor, and Charles Cross, chairman for the craft unions, said another report will be presented Friday at 9 a. m. A goal of $5,000 has been accepted by the firms and crafts.

Meanwhile, the campaign was rolling along yesterday in the construction industry.

The Baughman Construction Company agreed to make payroll deductions for Chest contributions for employees who wish to support the Red Feather agencies.

A meeting of shop stewards who will push the drive among workers of the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, will be held tomorrow. Rain time of the meeting in the company office will be 3:30 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. if the weather stays clear.

Ort reported yesterday that Memorial Hospital has met its $1,000 goal under a payroll deduction plan. Chairman for the drive there is John A. Moberly, superintendent.

A full report on the campaign to date will be given today at noon at a joint meeting with the Cumberland Rotary Club.

Trial Begins For Brothers In Court Here

The jury trial of two local brothers charged with receiving stolen goods began yesterday in Allegheny County Circuit Court and will resume today at 9:15 a. m.

On trial are Henry Ford Miller, of 115 Potomac Street, operator of a South Cumberland junk yard, and his brother, Herbert Hoover Miller, an employee at the junk yard.

Chief Judge George Henderson is presiding and the case which is being heard by an all-male jury. Among those who testified yesterday were Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator; Lt. James E. Van and Thomas J. See, of the City Police Detective Bureau and one of the defendants, Henry F. Miller.

According to testimony, Miller purchased a quantity of lead and other scrap metal on various occasions from Jacob Eugene Pryor, of Gilmore.

Miller told the court that he did not know the lead had been stolen nor was he suspicious of Pryor with whom he has been doing business for some 10 or 12 years.

He bought 300 pounds of lead on one occasion this past spring and 600 pounds on another occasion from Pryor. Miller said that the lead had been purchased in bar form and also in a melted down form.

He surmised the lead had been gotten from dumps including one at Luke. A quantity of lead in both forms and a couple of pictures were entered in court as evidence during the afternoon hearing.

Judge Henderson adjourned the trial about 4 p. m. yesterday and pointed out that it would resume this morning at 9:15 o'clock.

Counsel for the defendants are William H. Geppert and Thomas N. Berry. The state's case is being presented by State's Attorney Paul Fletcher and his assistant, James S. Getty.

Youth Caught In Shuffle Of Trousers

They claim there is nothing new under the sun but a local youngster figured he had an angle to get himself a new pair of trousers.

City Police Detective George Furstenburg said the 15-year-old boy, who will be taken to Juvenile Court, walked into a local store to try on a pair of trousers.

Apparently they satisfied him although he didn't figure on paying the price. After trying on the trousers, police said he removed the tags and placed them on his old trousers and placed them back on the counter.

However a keen-eyed salesgirl spotted the quick shuffle and police were notified and the youngster was being questioned last night at headquarters.

Butler Blames His Foe; Mahoney Sees Success

Senator Admits Composite Photo "In Bad Taste"

Democrat Candidate Schedules Tour Of This County

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15 (AP)—Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) admitted tonight the use of a composite picture in his 1950 campaign was "in bad taste." But he expressed doubt it was an important factor in his victory.

The Republican senator said the man he unseated, Democrat Millard E. Tydings, himself had placed most of the blame for his defeat on the bitter Maryland Democratic primary for governor that year.

Butler said a candidate in that primary was George P. Mahoney, now opposing Butler for re-election, so "it is clear that Senator Tydings blamed him more than me or anyone else for the 1950 defeat."

Half Hour Talk

In a 30-minute address prepared for television (WMAR-TV), billed by Butler headquarters as "the 1950 speech," the senator spent about 15 minutes discussing the campaign of six years ago and its investigation by a Senate elections subcommittee. The subcommittee had criticized "despicable 'back street' type" tactics used by Butler aides but denied Tydings' bid to bar him from being seated.

In the second half of his speech Butler said Mahoney, who has made the 1950 campaign a major issue in the current one, has used "deceit and trickery" in his own primaries for governor in 1950, senator in 1952 and governor again in 1954. The senator also reviewed his own record, saying it showed he accomplished much in fighting against Communism and for a stronger merchant marine.

He did not mention Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who had battled Tydings in the Senate and whose staff helped with the Butler campaign in 1950.

Butler said he has been and still is "willing to take full responsibility" for the composite photograph and the tabloid in which it was printed.

The subcommittee had called the photograph "infamous" but said "it was not of dominant influence on the voters."

Tabloid Misleading

It said the tabloid contained "misleading half-truths, misrepresentations and false innuendoes that maliciously and without foundation attack the loyalty and patriotism not only of former Sen. Millard Tydings, . . . but also the entire membership of the Senate Armed Services Committee." Tydings was chairman of the committee.

Butler said the photograph "was a product of enthusiasm, yet ill-advised friends" and neither he nor Jon M. Jonke, his campaign manager, had anything "to do with its preparation."

"I freely admit that this picture was in bad taste and a mistake of judgment," he said. "Composite pictures, no matter how plainly labeled, have no place in political campaigns."

Then he told televisioners Mahoney "has cunningly kept from you the fact that the picture was plainly labeled."

"As for my opponent's claim that this photograph contributed in large measure to Senator Tydings' defeat," Butler continued, "I hope you will search your memory and ask yourselves whether you ever saw it. If you did, I hope you will ask yourselves whether it influenced, in any way, your 1950 vote."

He noted he defeated Tydings by about 43,000 votes—326,000 to 283,000.

Butler said also he was willing to accept "full responsibility for the fact that Mr. Jonke, who was hired as my campaign public re-

George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, told a rally of Garrett County citizens in the William James Hotel at Oakland last night that he would sweep all four counties of Western Maryland.

Opening a week-long drive for votes in the western section of the state, Mahoney predicted a victory margin of 2-to-1 in Garrett County. He said he has visited the county many times since 1950 and has become increasingly well known.

Because of his avowed interest in the plight of Garrett County coal fields and his promises to do something constructive about the part-time operation of big mines and idle situation in many smaller ones, Mahoney says he has been pledged full support in the county's mining areas.

Tourist Trade

He also believes that business people interested in full development of Deep Creek Lake and other resort areas are aware of his program to increase interest in the county's recreational potential and to enhance the tourist trade.

Mahoney told his audience that the Democratic party, in its platform, is pledged to aid small business men and the farmers. He noted the economic problems of some Garrett County farmers in the last couple of years, and in talks with many of them, he said, they have indicated their leanings toward the Democratic candidates.

Candidate Mahoney makes his claim of 2-to-1 margin in Garrett County despite his loss of the county to Sen. J. Glenn Beall in 1952. They also point out that in this campaign, Mahoney has made personal contact with many people, and several well known Republicans in Garrett County have quietly pledged their support because they believe he is sincere in his promises to help the county's economy.

Numerous Stops

Mahoney did not arrive in Garrett County until about 4 p. m. but he made numerous stops along Route 40 on the way to the Oakland rally.

Following the rally last night, he drove to Kitzmiller and other communities in that area, where he had appointments with party leaders and several citizens who have shown no little interest in his campaign.

Mahoney joined forces in this week's campaign trek with John R. Foley, congressional candidate in the Sixth District. Former State Senator Bernard L. Gonder and Earl Guard, a longtime Democratic party worker accompanied the two candidates.

The rally at Oakland attracted an over-flow crowd of nearly 200 party workers and other interested citizens.

Today, both Mahoney and Foley will meet in Cumberland at a breakfast with Democratic leaders in Allegheny county.

Between 9 and 11 a. m. they will tour sections of Cumberland. About 11:30 they will visit Corriganville, at noon they will be in Mt. Savage for lunch, and then go to Frostburg to tour that community. In the afternoon

Foley Proposes More Potomac River Planning

Democrat Speaks At Oakland Rally

Democratic Congressional Candidate John R. Foley called last night for a greatly expanded program of planning and conservation to develop the Potomac River Valley.

He addressed a rally at the William James Hotel in Oakland sponsored by the Garrett County Democratic Central Committee.

Foley said his Republican opponent, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, "has a record of gestures and inaction" on Potomac River development. Foley pledged efforts to more than triple the budget of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin to convert Hyde's "pious words into action."

Unwanted Powers

The Montgomery County Democrat pointed out that Rep. Hyde had introduced legislation in Congress to give the Potomac River Commission police powers that the commission itself does not want. Hyde's bill, the Democratic candidate said, never "got to first base in Congress."

What is needed, he declared is an increase in the commission's budget to "at least $100,000 a year." The commission is limited by statute to a budget of $30,000 at present, he said.

"Mr. Hyde will never take any real action to clean up and develop the Potomac," Foley charged, "because he and the rest of the Republican party are distracted by the trembling solicitude for corporation profits."

"The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin was established 15 years ago. It is true, it has no police powers to enforce its policies. But each of the states which contribute to it does have police powers. So Mr. Hyde's effort to give the commission authority it neither wants nor needs is merely a gesture," Foley asserted.

Hyde In Frederick

Rep. Hyde last night attended a Frederick County Republican Rally at the Frederick Fair grounds. Today his campaigning will be concentrated in Montgomery County.

The Republican candidate for a third term in the House of Representatives will visit Allegheny County on Wednesday. He will attend the annual dinner meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers of Western Maryland at St. Mary's recreation hall at 7 p. m. Wednesday and the meeting of the Frostburg Women's Republican Club two hours later.

Glass Company Display Planned At Dinner Meet

A special display of products of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will be set up in St. Mary's Hall as one of the attractions at the annual dinner of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association tomorrow night.

The association is paying a special tribute to industrial leaders with officials from all major industries as guests. Special guests will be present from the city's newest industry, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Plant No. 7, and they will be guests of honor.

J. Goodloe Jackson, executive secretary of the association who will be toastmaster at the dinner, earlier announced a list of industrialists expected to attend.

Last night he said additional acquaintances have been received. These include Charles S. Catherman Jr., president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, who will attend instead of Anthony Saell, secretary-manager who is ill; James C. Warden, plant superintendent of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company who will represent E. S. Burke, president who will be out of the city; A. J. Rost, of the Mt. Savage Refractories Sales Company, Pittsburgh; R. W. Dittmer, assistant director of public relations of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in Pittsburgh; Robert M. Hainsfurther, local glass plant manager and William P. Lawrence, director of industrial relations for the glass plant.

Hainsfurther will speak for the company at the dinner.

Jackson said over 700 are expected to attend, and a program of entertainment will include an outstanding floor show.

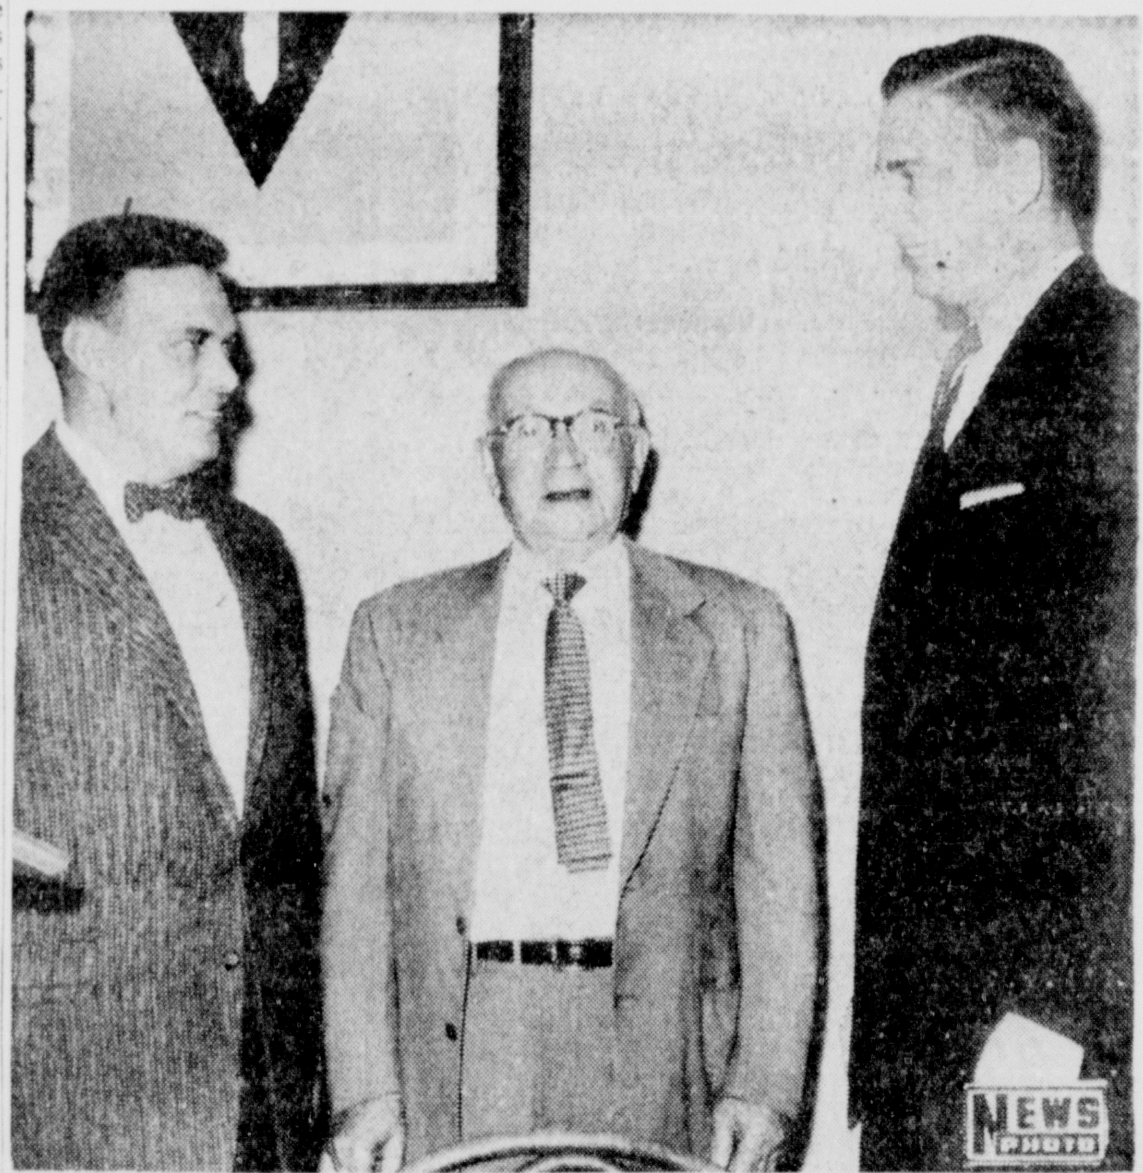

Two Canadians Get License Here

Two residents of neighboring Canada were in Cumberland yesterday to pick up a marriage license at the Allegheny County Court House.

They are James Christopher Dobby, of Don Mills, Ontario, and Alix May Hamilton, of Toronto, Ontario. The bridegroom-to-be is a native of England and the bride-to-be a native of Canada.

Union Meetings Set

Local 568, Iron Workers Union, will hold an executive board meeting Saturday at 6 p. m. in the Allegheny Labor Temple. A membership meeting will follow at 8 p. m.

Magistrate Addresses Ministers

Magistrate Morris Baron of Juvenile Court, center, is shown shortly before he addressed the Cumberland Ministerial Association at its monthly meeting yesterday at Central YMCA. With him are Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church and association program chairman, left, and Rev. Maurice D. Robertson, association president and pastor of First Presbyterian Church. See story on Page 12.
